Marcello, a member of the Venetian nobility, entered politics as a lawyer and left behind many works. The piece to be performed this time is an arrangement of Harpsichord Sonata No. 7 by the Italian violinist Ettore Bonelli for string ensemble.

2. Georg Philipp Telemann (1681-1767)

“Don Quixote Suite”

The familiar characters from Cervantes' novels are brightly depicted with a light touch. When Telemann was the music director of the city of Frankfurt, it was written for a concert by the Civic Orchestra.

- ◆ Get started of the story (Overture)
- ◆ Don Quixote's good morning
- ◆ Attack the windmill
- ◆ Unrequited love for Princess Durcinea
- ◆ Sancho Panza is teased
- ◆ Rocinante's gallop
- ◆ Sancho Panza's goofy donkey / (again) Rocinante's gallop
- ◆ Don Quixote's good night

3. Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart (1756–1791)

“Laudate Dominum”

The music is the fifth song of the Vesper for the saints of the church (K.339). Because of its beautiful melody, it is frequently performed alone at concerts.

Vocal: Hirochika Nakajima

4. Arcangelo Corelli (1653–1713)

"Concerto Grosso" in G Minor, Op.6-8

Corelli's works are characterized by the beautiful lines of melodies and the careful handling of the accompaniment parts, making them the most often performed works. As Corelli himself writes, "I composed it for Nativity Night," the music was performed during Christmas Mass. In the final movement, a pastoral is added to share the atmosphere of the holy night.

- I . Vivace - Grave
- II . Allegro
- III. Adagio - Allegro - Adagio
- IV. Vivace
- V . Allegro
- VI. Pastoral (Largo)

5. Edvard Grieg (1843–1907)

“Holberg Suite”

Holberg is a writer representing Norway, who is called the father of Norwegian literature. Grieg was commissioned to compose the music for the 200th anniversary of his birth. It became an elegant baroque tune that reflected the art and culture centered on the court at the time. It was originally composed for piano but is more often played in string ensembles.
